Terms in Print Addresses: Abbreviations and Phrases on Printed Images 1500–1900

Ad Stijnman

Originally these lists were published as Appendix 3 in my Engraving and Etching 1400–2000: A History of the Development of Manual Intaglio Printmaking Processes (London & Houten 2012), pp. 413–418. For a revision see Delineavit et Sculpsit: Journal for Dutch and Flemish Prints and Drawings, (2017), no. 42 (Dec.), p. 105. The present version is the latest one and can be found at https://tulip88x.wixsite.com/ad--stijnman/recent-publications, at the top.

The following lists may be used, copied and disseminated freely with proper reference to Ad Stijnman as long as they are not changed in any way.

I gratefully acknowledge all those who have helped me in any possible way in compiling these lists. Any feedback on their content and use is highly appreciated: tulip88x[at]xs4all.nl.

Introduction

A large variety of abbreviations and phrases given in the so-called *ADDRESS(es) of prints and illustrations can be found from 1500. They supply information about persons' activities in production and publishing, dedications, years of publication and printing privileges.¹ These expressions are usually found in the lower margins of engravings, etchings and lithographs, less in woodcuts and wood engravings, rarely in metalcuts. Copper engravers started signing plates with their initials or marks from the 1450s.² The abbreviation F for fecit is used by Marcantonio Raimondi in MAF from c.1506. The term inventor is first used on engravings by Raimondi after Raphael c.1510–1520 (INV.RAP.UR; RAPH.URBI.INVEN; RAF.URB.INVENT ROMAE). The abbreviation S for sculptor or sculpsit is used by Jan Gossaert in IMS (1520–1522), Domenico Beccafumi in Inventor. S. (1530–1535) and Jacques Prévost in PS (intertwined, 1537).

Print publishers began expressing their involvement in prints in Germany in c.1515–1520 (Jost de Negker zu Augspurg), followed in Italy from the 1530s (Romae apud Philippum Thomassinum; Jouannes Baptista de Rubeis iunior formis Romae; Romae ex typis Antonÿ Lafreri; Ant. Lafrerii Formis; Ant. Sal. exc.) and by Hieronymus Cock in Antwerp after 1550 (excude). This may have derived from printers' devices in books showing publishers' names or marks with further information in letterpress. Goltzius organised the production of blocks and plates, including printing, in his Haarlem workshop in the 1580s (imprime and gedruckt in 1582, impreßum in 1583). Giovanni Guerra engraved and printed (imprimit) a plate in 1586, published by Bartolomeo Grassi. Andrea Andreani signed woodblocks (impressit, 1585), and Crispyn de

Passe and Peter Over(r)adt copperplates they published as printers (impressor, imprimit, from c.1600). The first to be mentioned solely as plate printer is one Goyton on plates from the 1660s–1680s.<sup>3</sup>

Ugo Da Carpi applied for a privilege for his chiaroscuro printing in 1516.<sup>4</sup> From the middle of the sixteenth century print publishers applied for privileges for particular prints or their publications in general, which gave a legal base for prosecution in case of breach of the privilege.<sup>5</sup> For example, Erasmus Loy had specimens of his colour printed woodcuts stamped in black with phrases such as mit Rö. Kaij. Und Khu. Maij. Freijhait, nit Nachzudruckhen. Multiple privileges and licences from authorities are also found, such as for Peter Paul Rubens who was granted triple privileges from the King of France, the Archduke of the Spanish Netherlands and the Dutch States General between 1619–1620.

Print addresses became standard following the professionalisation of the printing trade in the course of the sixteenth century. They were still used in the early nineteenth century by lithographers and steel engravers signing their stones and plates respectively, but declining in the second half of the nineteenth century when prints were produced by companies and not by individual craftsmen anymore. In the first half of the twentieth century only names of publishing and printing companies were left. Nowadays, the artist's name, title, year and edition number are often written in pencil in the margin beneath the impression or on the back of the print. This gradually became common in the second half of the nineteenth century, with antecedents going back to the late seventeenth century and similar manners in books.<sup>6</sup>

Explanatory note

Below two lists are presented. The first list is the Glossary with alphabetically ordered authorised terms<sup>7</sup>, being a guide to the many Dutch, English, French, German, Italian, Latin, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish and Swedish terms, phrases and abbreviations found in print addresses. Per authorised term first the most common expressions are given, with alternatives following (also) and cross references (see also) guide to related authorised terms. The second list is the Index containing all the expressions from the Glossary in alphabetical order with references to their authorised terms, which may be checked for contexts. Still more expressions can be found, but those given here will help understanding them.

The word 'matrix' is used here in the sense of any possible carrier from, by or through which an impression (print) is produced by means of transferring ink onto a support (paper, parchment, fabric, leather), but also including inkless impressions such as blind embossments and perforated supports.

However, Goyton also signed plates as publisher (exc.), so that he was also both a publisher and printer. The difference will be that he worked as a printer for someone else.

&lt;sup>7</sup> 'Authorised terms' are standardised expressions used within the present Glossary and Index; they should not be seen as literal translations, but rather as interpretations of abbreviations and phrases.

Transcriptions:

- $\alpha$  is transcribed as 'ae':  $\alpha$  => aes
- cū is transcribed as 'cum'
- i and  $\bar{i}$  are transcribed as 'in'
- i- and j- at the beginning of terms are transcribed as 'i': jnv. => inv.
- -i and -j at the end of terms are transcribed as 'j': Mai. => Maj.
- u to be pronounced as v is transcribed as 'v': priuilegio => privilegio
- v to be pronounced as u is transcribed as 'u': dedicates => dedicates

Otherwise transcriptions are literal, with any lines, dots or accents above letters as well as ligatures ignored, although for clarity in some cases abbreviations are written in full between square brackets or with a clarifying scope note or with a translation or with a time period, such as 'sup[er]. p[er]m. or jnu. [= inv.]' or 'di Greg. PP. xiij ex privil. per an. X [= ten year privilege from Pope Gregory XII]' or '[early 18th century]'.

Unusual spellings are transcribed the way they are, such as prevelegio. Apparent mistakes in the original are transcribed the way they are, such as dilin. (in letterpress) stays dilin., although it was amended to delin. in variant 2 of state I, probably a correction made at the press (see Christoffel Jegher after Peter Paul Rubens, Portrait of a Man; H. IX.192.20-I).

Publishers added their places of publication in engravings and woodcuts from the first quarter of the sixteenth century, see the examples above; engravers started adding names of places where they worked from the middle of the eighteenth century. For Latin place names see: J.G.T. Graesse, F. Benedict, Orbis Latinus: Lexikon lateinischer geographischer Namen des Mittelalters und der Neuzeit; Großausgabe, eds. H. Plechl and S.-C. Plechl, (Braunschweig 1972). The website http://www.columbia.edu/acis/ets/Graesse/contents.html transcribes the 1909 edition of Graesse's dictionary and enables searching by word-image. However, the printed editions of 1971 and 1972 are more up to date and the 1972 edition mentioned above has more place names. #### Glossary

This glossary is an alphabetical list of authorised terms for expressions found in print *ADDRESSes**. Check the following Index for an alphabetical list of all the abbreviations and phrases given here, with reference to their authorised terms.

- *Address = address, adres, Adresse, indirizzo, inscriptio; i.e., in this document defined as information concerning production and publishing given in a print, usually found in its lower margin; the following related expressions are used in modern literature
  - O Before adding text = avant la lettre, avant toutes lettres, antilettera, avantilettera, before letters, before any text, voor de letter, voor alle letters
  - O After adding text = après la lettre, after letters, na de letter
  - O Without text = sans lettre, sans aucune lettre, senza lettera, without any text, without letterpress, zonder op- of onderschrift
- Author of the text = for text accompanying the image, such as a verse
  - O Has written the text = accidebat from the Latin verb 'accidere' [?]; also cecinit from the Latin verb 'canere'; also comp., compo, compos., composuit from the Latin verb 'componere', see also INVENTOR > HAS DESIGNED; also l., lu., lud., ludebat from the Latin verb 'ludere'; also pangebat from the Latin verb 'pangere'; also posui, posuit from the Latin verb 'ponere'; also scribeb. from the Latin verb 'scribere'
- Book printing = letterpress, typography, typographically printed text
  - O Has printed the text = ex typis, typis, typis express., from the Latin noun 'typus', indicates the person in control of the block, plate, stone or other matrix from which the image is printed, usually the printer-publisher, but in later references commonly the printer; also copper plates are meant with 'aeneis typis', however, and consequently ex typis or typis may therefore also refer to the owner of the printing plate; see also OWNER OF THE PRINTING PLATE, PROOF > PRINTED BY THE ARTIST and PUBLISHER > HAS PUBLISHED
  - O Book printer = architypographus, Buchdrucker [also printer of woodblocks], typographus; until the nineteenth century a book printer was often also a publisher of books, less so of woodcuts; see also PRINTER
  - o Book printing shop = Buchdruckerei, officina, ty., typ.; see also PRINTER > PRINTSHOP
- Colouring = colouring by brush, hand colouring
  - O Has coloured by brush = col.; see also PRINTER > HAS PRINTED IN COLOUR
- Coordinator = director, derect., direct.

- Has coordinated the production = dierexit, direx., direx., direxit, dirigens, dirigente, drx., from the Latin verb 'dirigere'; also iussit [?], sous la direction de, unt. Leit. v.; see also PUBLISHER
- Copy = indication of the person who had a copy or replica made after the original matrix
  - Had made the copy = restituit, from the Latin verb 'restituere'; also copiado; see also
     EXAMPLE FOR THE IMAGE
- Dealer = cunst verko., konstverkooper, Kupferstich-Handlung, Kunst Händlr, Kunsthandler, m.d d'estampes, map seller, md.s d'estampes [= plural], mercator, print seller, venditor; also when the print is sold by a bookdealer bibliop., bibliopola, boekverkooper, boekverkoper, Buchhandlung, lib., librairie
  - Sells = prostat, prostant [= plural], from the Latin verb 'prostare'; also are to be sold by, are to be sould by, are to behad, on le vend, on trouve a vendre, se haillan a vender en casa di, se trouve, se trouvent, se vand, se vande, se vend, se vendano, se vendent, si vende, si vendeno per, si vendono da, sold by, sould by, sunt venales in aedibus, te coop by, vendono, venduntur, venundant, zu finden beij, zu finden bey, zyn te bekoomen; commonly also the publisher see also PUBLISHER > HAS PUBLISHED

• Dedication = dedicatio

- O Has dedicated = D.D., D.D.D., D.D.D.D., dat dicat offert, dddt., ded., dedet, dedic., dedicabat, dedicat, dedicavit, dedicavit et dat, dedicant [= plural], dedicarunt [= plural], dedit dedicavitque, dicat, from the Latin verbs 'dare' and 'dedicare'; also consec., consecrat, from the Latin verb 'consecrare'; also D.D.C.C., D.D.C.Q., dedica, dedicada, dedicato, dedicatus, dedié par, dediée par, dediées par, dediés par, dediéz par, dicavit, gewidmet von, offerebat, offert, opgedraagen, sacravit, zu Ehren, zugeeignet von; with many other elaborate phrases, especially in German speaking lands in the seventeenth century
- Draughtsman = delineator, deliniator; usually the person who made a drawing after the original painting, relief or sculpture
  - Has drawn = d., de., del., del., delie, delie, delien, delina, delina, delina, delinea, delinea, delineata, delineata, delineati, delineatus, delineavit, deliniavit, delint, delin, deli., delli, dellin, delini, delini, delini, delini, delini, figura, figura, figura, figurabat, figuravit, from the Latin verb 'figurare'; also abgezaichnet, abgezeichnet, adnotati, adnotatum, delini, delinie infudit, delineo, deliniati, descripsit, desig., design., designatum, designavit, dess. par, desseignez par, dessigné par, dessignée par, dessignéz par, dessiné par, dessinée, dessinés, dib.º, dibusó, dis., diseg. disegnata, disegnate, disegnato, disegno, drawn, entw. v., entworfen von, entworffen von, geteeckent door, geteekent door, getek., getekend, getekent door, gez., gez. von, gezeichnet von, gezh., gheteeckent door, gz., sacada, tecknade; see also INVENTOR OF THE IMAGE > HAS INVENTED

 "RW / [quill]", Rudolph Wyssenbach (fl. 1545–60) has designed; see also under WOODCUTTER > HAS CUT

o "CvS / [brush]", Cristopher van Sichem (c.1546–1624) has designed

o "•I A•", Jost Amman, designer of the woodcuts illustrating the Ständebuch (Frankfurt a.M., 1568) with texts by Hans Sachs, here the mark with the Formschneider (fig. [17]), the "A" could also be read as "ft", others of Amman's marks are shaped differently

- Edition = the edition number can be settled by contract, but is never given in the plate; this information starts appearing written in pencil beneath the impression by the second half of the nineteenthth century; commonly the number within the edition followed by the total number of impressions is given, such as: 23/50 or II/XX, for artist's proofs this can be a.p. III/X and for offprints h.c. II/V; see also PROOF
- Engraver = aeris caelator, anaglyptarius, caelator [with ablative caelatore], calchographus, calcographus, chal., chalcog., chalcogr., chalcographus, coelator, engraver, exculptor, excusor, glÿpfes, grabador, грав. [in Cyrillic script], gravador, гравер. [in Cyrillic script], graveur, graveur en taille douce, incisor, incisore, intagliatore, καλκιογραφοσ [in Greek script], Kupferstecher, Kupfferstecher, scalptor [with ablative scalptore and plural scalptores], schulptor, sculptor [with ablative sculptor], scultor; also ciceleur, i. & s. [= inventor et sculptor], Stempffelschneider; see also INVENTOR OF THE IMAGE, WOOD ENGRAVER and WOODCUTTER
  - O Has engraved = cae., cael., caelab., caelata, caelati, caelav., caelavit, from the Latin verb 'caelare', derived from the Greek verb 'κοιλαινω' [in Greek script = to excavate, to hollow out]; also caelum applic. [caelum = burin]; also inc., incese, inci., incid., incide, incedeb., incidebat, incidi, incidit, incis., incisa, incisae, incise, incisit, inciso, incisum, incisus, incize, inct., inscidit, insidit, from the Latin verb 'incidere' [also used for etchings, occasionally used for woodcuts; see also WOODCUTTER > HAS CUT (THE WOODBLOCK); also exculpsit, exsculpsit, s., sc., scalp., scalpebat, scalpit, scalps., scalpsit, scalpt., schalpsit, schul., schulp., schulpsit, schulpxit, sclp., sct., scu., scul., sculp., sculpcit, sculpeb., sculpebat, sculps., sculpserunt [= plural, means more engravers worked on the same plate], sculpsit, sculpt., sculpta, sculptae, sculpxit, st., from the Latin verb '(ex)sculpere' [commonly also used with etchings, rarely with woodcuts], and more elaborate chalcographa arte sculptae [H. Goltzius, H.VIII.102.304-II]; also eng., engd., engrav'd by, engraved by, esc., escul., excisit, expressit, gegraben von, gest. von, gestochen von, grab.°, grabado, grabó., graphice expressa, gravada, gravé par, gravé en couleur par [in France in the second half of the eighteenth century], gravée par, gravez, gravou, inschulptum, insculptam, machts, scolp., scolpi, scolpi a bulino, sculpsit ferro [= has engraved with the burin], se fait, transcripsit [all terms also used for etchings]; NB, occasionally excudit is used by publishers, see also PUBLISHER > HAS PUBLISHED

- O Has engraved or etched in copper = one of the above or below terms combined with: aere, aeri, in aere, in aes; also aeneis formis incisa, aeneis formulis, aeneis tabellis expressum, aeri infudit, aere exarat, delineatio aere exarata, engraved in copper, gravés en taille douce [early eighteenth century], in das Kupfer gebracht, in aere spectandum exhibuit, in Kupffer gebracht, ins Kupffer gebracht, in 't cooper gebracht, in 't kooper gebragt, in 't koper gebracht [mid-eighteenth century], in 't koper gebragt
- O Has engraved or etched in steel = Stahlst., Stich von
- Has etched = a.f., aq. fort., aqua, aqua forte, aqua forti insculpsit, aquaforti, expressit aq. forti, f. aqua, fec. et aqua forti, f. aqua forti, faict a leau forte, faict en eau forte, fec. aqua forti, fecit aqua forti, fecit in aqua ford.; also forms of 'sculpere', see ENGRAVER > HAS ENGRAVED; also eingeaetzt, eingeschnitten, etch'd by, etched by, f. a l'aq. f., fatte coll. acqua forte, geaetzt, geätzt, geëtst, geëtzt, gegrazet, gradiert, gradirt, gravé à l'eau-forte par, intagl. te, intagliata, intagliate, rad., rad. v., radiert, radirt, scolpi all' acqua forte; rarely 'durch' for a person who designed, drew and etched his own plates
- Has etched with aquatint = aq:tinta, aqua tinta, aquat., aquatinta; aquatinta fecit, engrav'd in aquatinta, i.e. only produced the aquatint and another person etched the lines
- O Has etched the photogravure = ph. sc., photogravure sculpsit, photosculpsit
- O Has engraved the letters = écrit, scrip., scrips., scripsit, from the Latin verb 'scribere'; also aeri aqua forti inscriptae, gelettert, maitre d'ecrit, sc. sc.
- Has finished the work (or edited) = perfecit, from the Latin verb 'perficere'; also engraved and finished [= has finished the work with the burin], finished, recognovit [= edited], terminé, terminé au burin [= has finished the work with the burin]
- Has made = f., fac., faciebat, faecit, faict, faicts par, faits par, fc., fe., fec., fecer. [from the plural fecerunt], fecet, fecit, fect., feecit, fesit, fet., ft., from the Latin verb 'facere'; also fece, gemaakt, opus, verfertigt; see also WOODCUTTER > HAS CUT (THE WOODBLOCK)

- Has made in mezzotint = geschaben von, geschabt von
- O Has amended the plate = reparavit, revidit
- Studio of the engraver = caelatura, calcographia, calcographie, chalcographia; see also
   PRINTER > PRINTSHOP
- Example for the image = exemplar; see also COPY > HAS MADE THE COPY
  - After life = ad dimidium nat. ambit, ad nat., ad v., ad vium, ad viv., ad vivum, after nature, ap. nat., au vif, d'après nature, efter naturen, from the life, gedaen naet leven, in re presenti, locum ad viv. del., n.d. Nat., na 't leven, naar 't leeven, nach dem Leben, nach der Natur, nae 't leven, sec. nat., sur le naturel, vu
  - o After the object = ad obj., ad objectum
  - After the original = ad archetypon, ad archetypum, ad prototypi, e prototypo, ex archetypis, ex archetypo, iuxta prototypon, juxta archetypum, juxta exemplar, juxta originale, na het origin., naar het origin, naar 't origineel, nach d. Origin.; see also INVENTOR OF THE IMAGE > HAS DESIGNED
  - O After a drawing, painting, print, sculpture = after, après, d'apres, da, ex delineatione, ex imagine, ex marm. antiq., ex pictura, gravure d'interpretation, na, na de copye, naar, nach, secundum exemplar, secundum icon., secundum iconem
  - O After a photograph = nach einer Photographie

• Financer = creditor

- O At the expenses of = a costa de, a spese di, auf Kosten von, aux dépens de, impensa, impensis, suis impensis, sump., sumptibus; usually, but not necessarily, the financer is also the publisher, see PUBLISHER; see also PATRON > HAS CAUSED TO BE MADE
- Inventor of the image = auct., auctor, infentor, inventer, inventor [= male, with ablative inventore], inventorix [= female], the person who made the draught, or the larger part of the drawing, painting, relief, or sculpture, respectively the larger part of the composition on which the design for the print is based; also auteur, auth. es [= plural], author, autor [= inventor and/or engraver of the image], figurator [with ablative figuratore], I. & S. [= inventor et sculptor], inventer, inventeur, invintor
  - Has designed (the composition) = comp., compo., composuit, cop., from the Latin verb 'componere'; also depictae a, disposuit, dressé, fingebat, finx. from the Latin verb 'fingere', see also AUTHOR OF THE TEXT > HAS WRITTEN THE TEXT and EXAMPLE FOR THE IMAGE > AFTER THE ORIGINAL
  - Has drawn = fig., figurabat, figurat., figuravit, from the Latin verb 'figurare'; see also DRAUGHTSMAN > HAS DRAWN
  - O Has invented = in., inf., inue., inuen., inv., inv., inven., inven., inven., inven., invenid, invenieb., inveniebat, invenit, invent., invented, inventur, invet., jnu. [= inv.], from the Latin verb 'invenire'; also adumbravit, afgebeeldt door, auctore [= by the inventor], concepit, de l'invention de, designed by, dess. par, desseignez par, dessigné par, dessignée par, dessignée

- par, dessin. par, erf. from 'erfunden', ersunnen, ex inventione, geïnventeert, inventa, inventado, inventae per, inventé par, inventées par, inventes par, inventez par, inventiert von, inventirt durch, invento, nae d'inventie van, naar d'inventie van, naer d'inventien van, uyt gebeelt door; see also DRAUGHTSMAN > HAS DRAWN
- O Has revised = revis'd [= the drawing made after the original]
- O Has cooperated in making the design = orn., ornav., ornavit, from the Latin verb 'ornare'
- Lithograph = i. lith., imp. lith., imp. lithog., impression lithographique, L.D., lith. Druck, St. v., Stdr. v., Steindr. v., Steindruck von; NB: the division between drawing on the lithographic stone and printing it is not always clear, due to which terms can be explained in different ways
  - O Has drawn the lithograph = ad lap., auf Stein gez. von, gez. u. in Stein gest., in lap. del., in lapid. delie., in lap. dlt., in lap. srpt., in lapide scripsit, in lpd. scpst., in lpd. spst., lap. inscr., lap. insrpt., lapid delin., lapidi incisae, lapidi inscripsit, lithographice del., lithographirt von, on stone by; also auctor [if the author of the text drew the illustrations], gravirt
  - O Has printed the lithograph = lith., lith. impr., lith.e, litho., lithog., lithog.e, lithografierade, lithographié par; also ged. v.; also used for the person who drew the design on the stone
  - O Has printed the lithograph in colour = chromolith.
  - Lithographic printshop = i. lith., imp. lith., imp. lithog., impression lithographique, Kunstdruckerei, L.D., lith. Anst., lith. art. Inst., lith. Atelier, lith. Inst., lith. Institut, Lith. u.
     Druck, lithogr. Atelier, lithographische Anstalt, lithographisches Atelier, lithographisches
     Institut, Steindruckerei

Maker

- o From the printshop = ex officina; see also PRINTER > PRINTED BY THE ARTIST
- Owner of the printing plate = aeneis formis, aeneis typis, ex. formis, ex typis, f., for., form., forma, formeis, formis, from the Latin noun 'forma', typis; usually refers to the publisher, see also BOOK PRINTING > HAS PRINTED THE TEXT, PRINTER and PUBLISHER > HAS PUBLISHED
- Painter = pict., pictor, pictrix [= female]; also eiconog., iconographus, Maaler, pittore
  - O Has painted = p., painted, pent., pin., pinczit, ping., pingebat, pins., pintado, pinx., pinxcit, pinxer. [= plural], pinxit, pinxt., pt., px. from the Latin verb 'pingere'; also coloribus expressit, depingebat, depinxerat, depinxit, dip., dipin., dipins., dipinse, dipinto, gekonterfeÿt, gemahlt von, gemalt von, peint par, pintou
- Patron = the person who commissioned the work
  - Has caused to be made = f.f., fieri curavit, fieri fecit; see also FINANCER and PUBLISHER >
    HAS PUBLISHED
- Printer = impressor; see also BOOK PRINTING > BOOK PRINTER, OWNER OF THE PRINTING PLATE, MAKER and PUBLISHER

- O Has printed = im., imp., imp., impr., impres., impresce, impressit, imprimit, from the Latin verb 'imprimere'; also Druck von, de l'impression de, gedruckt, gedt. by, getruckt, ghedruckt, impresce, impresce, impresse, imprime par, imprimé par, printed by, stampa, stampano da, stampati da, tryckte; can also be used by the publisher, because printer and publisher are often the same person until the middle of the seventeenth century, see also PUBLISHER > HAS PUBLISHED
- O Has printed in colour = coloribus adumbrata, coloribus distincta typis impressa, impresse a colori, imprimé en couleur; see also COLOURING
- O Plate printer = impressor imaginum aeri incisarum, Hofkopferdrücker
- Print = impressum ["Henricus Goltzius Sculp. & Excudebat Impreßum Harlemi. / A".
   1583"; H. Goltzius, H.VIII.100.205-I]
- O Printshop = off., officina, stamperia; see also BOOK PRINTING > BOOK PRINTING SHOP, ENGRAVER > STUDIO OF THE ENGRAVER
- O Printed by the artist, see also BOOK PRINTING > HAS PRINTED THE TEXT and PROOF > ARTIST'S PROOF; see also MAKER
- Privilege = to secure copyrights; sometimes the number of years for which the privilege is valid is given [cum previlegio per annos 10, cum privilegio per annos XV, cum privilegio ad sexennium, cum sexennali privilegio, p.X.An.]; sometimes the privilege is only given for a town [cum privilegio Antverpia]; also used for censorship
  - Licence for printing (general) = approuvé, approvato, imprimatur; see also READY TO PRINT
  - O Publication according to the law (England, France) = according to act of Parliament, publish'd according to act of Parliam.<sup>t</sup>, published according to act of Parliament, published as the act dir.<sup>s</sup>, published as the act directs, all terms used in England and commonly with a date or year following; dép., depon., déposé, déposé à la Biblio. # Bart Coriolanus Incidit Roma 1627.

It is common to find an image of a small knife or chisel next to the initials, name or mark of the blockcutter, examples:

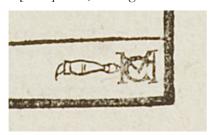

O Jost de Negker (c.1485–1544) working for Lucas van Leyden in 1508, with the monogram 'Jost' forming a triangular knife blade, which could also be read as 'ft' for fecit:

o "H [knife] H", Heinrich Holzmüller (fl. c.1550):

o "[knife] CM", Monogrammist working for Tobias Stimmer in 1583:

o "[knife] MF", Monogrammist working for Tobias Stimmer in 1583:

o "[knife] HS", Monogrammist (fl. c.1550):

o "Leon de Laborde / [knife]", active first half of the nineteenth century, in two variants:

o "PF / 1546", the elaborate example shown here is from a woodcut by Peter Flöttner (c.1485–1546), showing two mallets, two chisels and (presumably) a grinding stone beneath the initials:

o [mallet and two chisels] / "PF", Peter Flöttner (c.1485–1546) has cut:

o "IW / [knife]", Johann Wyssenbach (fl. c.1550) has cut

o "[pen] / RW / [knife]", Rudolph Wyssenbach (fl. 1545–1560) has designed and cut; see also under DRAUGHTSMAN > HAS DRAWN
