

A Brighter Vision: European Colour Printing 1450–1830

Ad Stijnman

Contents (general overview)

Preface (by the Supervisory Committee)

Foreword and Acknowledgements

Chapter 1: Introduction

Chapter 2: Materials and Techniques

Chapter 3: Antecedents

Chapter 4: From Gutenberg to Engelmann

Appendix

Literature

Index

Contents

Preface (by the Supervisory Committee)

Foreword and Acknowledgements

Chapter 1: Introduction

- Introduction
- Origin and Structure of this Study
- State of Research
- Style and Function of Colour Prints
- The Roles of Designers, Engravers, Printers and Publishers
- Identification of Colour Printing and Hand-Colouring
- State, Variant, Version and Palette
- Historical and Modern Terminology
- Trading and Collecting Colour Prints
- Historiography of the Study of Western Colour Prints and Colour Printing
- Purpose of this Study
- Discussion

Chapter 2: Materials and Techniques

- Introduction
- Ink Recipes
- Printing Processes
- Various and Failed Processes
- Monochrome and Polychrome
- Hybrid Systems
- Technical Examination
- Discussion

Chapter 3: Antecedents

- Introduction
- Printing Processes
- Asia and the Mediterranean
- Early European Textile Stamping
- The Introduction of Printing Woodcuts on Paper in Europe
- Towards European Metal Type Colour Printing
- Discussion

Chapter 4: From Gutenberg to Engelmann

- Introduction
- A White Woodcut
- Early Developments of European Colour Letterpress
- Dissemination of Colour Relief Printing throughout Europe and Overseas
- From Mechanised Hand-Colouring to Chiaroscuro Printing
- Early Developments of Colour Intaglio Printing
- Amsterdam, London, Paris: The Definite Breakthrough of Intaglio Colour Printing
- Early Developments of Colour Lithography
- Re-Invention and Revival of Colour Printing Processes
- Profound Changes in the Printing Trade after 1830
- Discussion

Appendix

- Glossary of Technical Terms
- General Chronology of European Colour Printing
- Chronological Bibliography of Early Modern European Colour Printing

Literature

Index

- Name Index
- Subject Index